

Prophet Muhammad's ﷺ

praised Manners

On the 12th of Rabi[^] ul-[^]Awwal of every year, an honoured and glorified memory shines over the whole world, and is commemorated by the entire Muslim world. They celebrate the birth of the best human, our Master Muhammad sallAllahu [^]alayhi wa sallam.

Islamic chant (Madih) groups loudly praise the Prophet sallAllahu [^]alayhi wa sallam, and the poems and speeches stating his good traits and manners are made in spite of some people who have hatred towards the Messenger of Allah sallAllahu [^]alayhi wa sallam claiming that this act is not permissible. Allah said in the Honourable Qur'an:

ﷻ (ﷻﷻﷻﷻﷻﷻ ﷻﷻﷻﷻﷻﷻ ﷻﷻﷻﷻﷻﷻ ﷻﷻﷻﷻﷻﷻﷻ ﷻﷻﷻﷻﷻﷻﷻﷻﷻﷻﷻﷻ)

This verse means that Muhammad was the last of the messengers and the prophets sallAllahu [^]alayhi wa sallam.

He is Muhammad, whom Allah has given manners that were all what the Qur'an ordered to do, he is Muhammad who accepts what the Honourable Qur'an calls to accept, he followed the manners and conducts that the Qur'an called for and abided by its orders. He never revenged on his own behalf unless the boundaries of the Religion were violated. He is Muhammad whom ar-Rahman has sent as a mercy to this nation. He is Muhammad, the most courageous and brave man when confronting the enemy. He is Muhammad, who has never said "No" whenever asked to give any worldly thing which is permissible to give, only if it was something he could not find. He is Muhammad, the most truthful human when talking, the most trustworthy person, and the best human to deal with. Allah the Exalted gave His Prophet sallAllahu ^alayhi wa sallam the highest rank of the good manners.
